

FROM THE SCOTT COUNTY NEWSBOY dated September 15, 1894:

— Mrs. McPheeters, Mrs. Frazer and Mrs. Hutton, of Commerce, and Mrs. Emma Mason, of St. Louis, visited Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McPheeters Tuesday.

— A Floating Palace show at Commerce Friday and Saturday of last week was well patronized.

FROM THE SCOTT COUNTY NEWSBOY dated March 24, 1894:

— First-class baled Timothy Hay for sale. Apply to Mrs. SUSAN GAITHER, Comme, Mo.

— Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Leedy and family visited friends in Commerce the early part of the week.

— If you think of buying furniture, it will pay you to inspect the stock of Anderson Bros., at Commerce, and get prices. They can and WILL save you money.

— Anderson Bros., at Commerce, have just opened a large stock of new Spring Goods, and are in the market to win. See them and save money.

— John Blumenberg and his wife, of near Commerce, both died of pneumonia last week.

— Since Tenkhoff came back from the markets, his Dress Goods department has been the chief attraction in town. The latest styles are just lovely this Spring and to get a good choice you should be on hand early.

E. A. JOHNSON, of Commerce, announces himself as a candidate for sheriff of Scott county. Ed is well known to the people of our county as an industrious and honest man, and is familiar with the duties of the office to which he aspires. He will make a good officer if elected.

EVERY day or two we hear of a new candidate for Railroad Commissioner. The woods are full of these patriots, and most of them want a free "write-up". Any candidate who is known to have affiliations with a railroad corporation should meet with no support. The railroads have a way of manipulating elections so as to get Commissioners who will be careful not to interfere with their selfish schemes. Their candidate may get through under the guise of a "Farmers' friend," or some such take, but any man in the least likely to play into the hands of the railroad interest is to be regarded with distrust. With really honest Commissioners we would have much better railroad service throughout the State.

IN this issue of the NEWSBOY appears the announcement of Charles S. Stone, of Commerce, as a candidate for county clerk. Mr. Stone is a good business man and is highly respected by all who know him. Should he be fortunate enough to get hold of the "longest pole" he will no doubt give satisfaction.

— Major W. W. Ward was in Benton Saturday.

TWENTY years ago the most humorous newspaper in the United States was published in the little city of Danbury, Conn. It was the Danbury Newsman, and J. M. Bailey was editor, proprietor and humorist. He kept it up splendidly for many years and much of his writing was intensely funny. He died last week at the age of 51. His paper had long lost its pre-eminence in the field of humor, but it had built up Danbury and sung fortune for the humorist.

FROM COMMERCE

The oldest couple in the hills above Commerce was separated by death on Friday night of last week. Mrs. Renfro Clymer passed away at the age of 83 years. Her maiden name was Laferty and she was married to Renfro Clymer is 1862. To them were born five children— Lenora, deceased; Roena (Mrs. Jessie Spradlin); Georgia Ann (Mrs. Mc Jenkins); Iona (Mrs. Ollie Lackey); and Archie, deceased. The remains of Mrs Clymer were buried at the Finley grave yard near Pleasant Hill Sunday, and the funeral was one of the largest ever witnessed in that neighborhood.

The property along te levee that was once the most valuable in our town is fast decaying and is almost wholly vacant. The oldest brick building in the town was that recently occupied by the bank— the first story of which is said to have been built is 1844. In this building was printed the first paper ever published in Scott county— the Commerce Dispatch. The recent high water wrecked this building to such an extent that it had to be abandoned and the bank was moved to the residence property for so many years occupied by Carrol Moye.

Church Rasberry was at Benton Monday to see the new court house and says that when he got there he could hardly see any thing else. Church is 76 years old and can spin a yarn as jolly as ever.

A very large crowd gathered here Sunday to witness the baptizing in the river. There were nine whites and as many or more Negroes baptized.

The fishermen are catching plenty of fish — mostly buffalo.
